Before proceeding with the agenda, the committee’s four new members, Mr. Arnoff, Mr.
Caslow, Ms. Leo, and Mr. Marotta, were introduced.

1. The National Economy
   Mr. Tracy gave a macroeconomic overview of the current state of the U.S. economy.

2. Regional Update
   Mr. Orr discussed economic trends in the Second Federal Reserve District.

3. International Update
Mr. Clark spoke about international developments in advanced and emerging economies.

4. Luncheon Discussion

Mr. Dudley joined the group for the luncheon discussion. Members were asked to comment on changes in demand, projected hiring and investment in plant and equipment for 2014, access to credit, and impacts due to severe winter weather or changes in tax policy, legislation, or regulations.

Most members reported growth in the beginning of 2014, with sales generally at or above pre-recession levels. Firms that experienced a slowdown due to severe winter weather noted that business has begun to pick up again.

A number of members reported plans to increase employment both locally and in other regions. Other members, however, reported a rise in the use of temps and independent consultants or an increase in existing employee hours rather than in headcount. As before, members generally noted the difficulty of finding skilled employees. Several members reported that their firms have developed internal training programs for skilled positions, in some instances through partnerships with local community colleges.

Several members reported making new investments in plant and equipment, in some cases to make up for deferred maintenance during the financial crisis. Energy efficiency was an area of investment for some firms.

In general, members reported favorable access to credit, though some firms continue to rely on self-financing.

Members reported various reactions to the Affordable Care Act (“ACA”), with some firms opting to hire contingent workers instead of more full-time employees. Several firms reported initial concerns over the federal budget sequester, though conditions have generally improved.

The meeting adjourned at approximately 2:00 p.m.
