

Meetings 2005 and 2006

The Foreign Exchange Committee meets approximately eight times a year. Of the eight meetings held, two are usually luncheons, and the remaining six are two-hour late afternoon sessions followed by a reception and dinner. The Chair, working with the executive assistant and other representatives from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, is responsible for the agenda. In preparing for the meetings, the Chair solicits advice from the other Committee members and receives updates from members who interact with the Operations Managers Working Group and the Chief Dealers Working Group.

The meetings are action oriented rather than information based. Each meeting opens with a discussion and analysis of market conditions. The Chair will often ask members specific questions and request their feedback, comment, or advice. In 2005, for example, members began a number of meetings with detailed comments on the recent trading patterns of the U.S. dollar, euro, and yen. Other topics included foreign exchange reform in China and the implications for other Asian currency regimes. The discussions during the market developments portion of the meeting not only provide important information and guidance for the Committee's sponsor—the Federal Reserve Bank of New York—but also plant seeds for future projects and initiatives. The market developments section is followed by a review of specific industry developments, including legal matters.

In the second half of the meeting, the members turn to the specific projects or initiatives of the Committee and its associated working groups. The individual members who sponsor the Committee's projects lead the project discussion with the objective of obtaining approval of next or final steps. In 2005, for example, some of the projects included initiatives to introduce best practice recommendations associated with foreign exchange prime brokerage, to examine the risks related to retail foreign exchange trading, and to develop trade-related documentation for exotic foreign exchange options. Decisions on project-related work are made during meetings.

The Committee underscores the importance of strong interaction with its associated global groups by routinely inviting guests from other foreign exchange committees and related industry groups. At the May 2005 meeting, the Committee invited members of the Operations Managers Working Group. At the September meeting, the chairs of the London Foreign Exchange Joint Standing Committee and the Canadian Foreign Exchange Committee were guests. On November 10, the Committee held its ninth annual joint meeting with the Singapore Foreign Exchange Market Committee.
